

CASE STUDY I

CLIENT: Janet Williamson Interiors

KITCHEN: William Ball Helena

MARK HANNER
KITCHEN DESIGN

THE BRIEF:

Janet's client was looking for new inspiration with their kitchen project. Previous designs almost copied the existing layout, which didn't best utilise the space and sea view.

As I hadn't seen the existing layout, I was free to come up with something different, which led me to suggest the island layout you see above. However, to make the most of the sea view, I suggested the sink to be positioned in the island, which also worked well with food preparation.

The bank of tall units incorporated the clients requirements for several built in appliances and also an American style fridge freezer.

The design work was carried out remotely using the online project centre,
